

PAY TRIBUTE TO JOHN POWER

Jacksonian Club Listens to Eulogies to Prominent Members of Club

SONS AND DAUGHTERS PRESENT

About fifty member and friends of the Jacksonian club gathered at the club headquarters, sixteenth floor of the City National bank building, last night for the memorial services in honor of the late John Power, former sheriff and prominent member of the club.

The sons and daughters of the late Mr. Power were present by special Invitation at the memorial meeting. Ed. P. Smith gave a biographical review of Mr. Power's life, and Colonel C. O. Cunningham and Richard L. Metcalfe paid beautiful tribute to the character of Mr. Power which they said was at once strong enough to face the hardest battle, and tender enough to weep for the afflicted at all time.

The following resolution of tribute was adopted by the Jacksonian out of respect for their deceased member: "When, pear the hour of 9 o' clock a. m., January "Hi, our well beloved friend and fellow member. John Power, bowed to the final decree, death claimed one whose life book is so replete in good and righteous works; whose influence was so valuable and whose example so inspiring that we scarce find words more than to sincerely express the universal regret that he was not permitted to serve out his allotted time. It is of common knowledge to all with whom he was acquainted, that John Power was of sterling quality; that he was a rugged, broad, superb type of American manhood; that he was the soul of honor, clean, unselfish, loyal, patriotic, courageous, sympathetic, frank and genial; that he was an affectionate husband and father, a staunch friend a wise counsellor, an upright public official, a progressive, generous, peace-loving, God fearing.

With strong, earnest and conscientious fidelity to duty, John Power met the care of official responsibilities in the same manner with which he discharged the detail of his business affairs, it was in the office of sheriff, that he earned and deserved the title of "Honest John Power," and no one can truthfully point to a deliberate act of his official or unofficial life which would bring the pang of reproach to those most near and dear to him or cast a stain on his family escutcheon.

John Power will be sadly missed from our counsels. The church, the lodge and the social realm in which he was wont to move, will bitterly deplore his taking away: yet, in the larger sense, the ennobling example of an earnest, unassuming and honorable man was exemplified by John Power, will linger with them in the years to come.

And, above the pallor of gloom which hover over the home which he had so many years honored and loved; shove the sighs and tear of countless friends of every avocation, profession, class and clan, the lustre of his helpful, wholesome life shall shine as free as "Hope's great throbbing star above the darkness of the dead."

Be it Resolved, Therefore, That this tribute of respect to our departed friend be made a permanent part of the record of this club, and that an engrossed copy, signed by the officers, be forwarded to his family.

Signed

HENRY P. RICHMOND.
